AN

ADDRESS, &c.

SIR,

YOUR Conduct, Virtue, Penetration, and Abilities, this S—ſ—n of P—t, have ſecured you that Honour, which the Conſtituents of this County have the warmeſt and moſt unfeigned Reſolution of paying you upon this, and all future Occaſions.

THO' we are incapable, Sir, of doing your Merit Juſtice, yet we hope to attone for our Inability in that Point, by our ſincereſt Attachment to your Intereſt, and thoſe recommended by you to our Suffrages.

WE are not inſenſible, Sir, that, tho' we have ſeveral illuſtrious Patriots in P—t, you have prov'd the Pulſe of the Senate, and firſt gave the Alarm, when the Axe was lay'd to the Root.

We mean, Sir, when the very Foundation of our Liberty was ſtruck at.

For your Nobility of Spirit upon this Occaſion, you are ſtill more dear to us, ſince, if you held any Preſent or future C—t Favours in Competition with the Intereſt of your Country, You would have ſold your Voice to that ignominous P—r—y, who diveſted themſelves of Humanity and Reaſon, when they ſhew'd ſo ready a Diſpoſition to reſign thoſe Rights and Liberties, which can alone preſerve us from a State of Slavery.

Tho' we had a Majority, and a glorious one, yet, the great Number of Sena—rs, that betrayed the Intereſt of their Country in P—t, this S—ſ—n, are no leſs alarming to us, than the many Corruptions that were uſed by the open Enemies of our Country to enſlave us.

There is nothing, Sir, but the over-ruling Interpoſition of Providence, can prevent our Liberties from being ſold, one Day or other, by the Venality of ſome of our Repreſentatives at home, and Artifice of Men, who, tho' their Commiſſion ſhould direct them to protect our Freedom, yet their Conduct ſhews their earneſt Diſpoſition to betray it.

The Sentiments, Sir, of every honeſt, learned and diſintereſted Man in this Kingdom, are, That if the late intended Alteration of the Language of our Acts, paſſed in the Affirmative, our Liberty lay at the Feet and Mercy of the E—h M—n—ry, who never were yet known to be in the I—h Intereſt.

It is obvious, Sir, that this Kingdom is very unequally repreſented in Parliament. The Cities of Dublin, Cork, Limerick, Waterford, Drogheda, and Gallway, contain perhaps one Fifth of the People of this Nation, and how inconſiderable the Number of Repreſentatives, for ſuch an immenſe Number of Conſtituents, and, that thoſe Cities, and our large Countries, ſhould have no more Repreſentatives tatives than our little Boroughs, is an Hardſhip, which we may complain of without any Hopes of Redreſs.

FROM this Inſinuation, I would infer that if at any Time a corrupt Majority in Parliament ſhould devote their Voices to the Ruin of their Country, their Sentiments ſhould not be conſidered as the Sentiments, either of the better Sort of the People, or of the Majority of the Nation.

EVERY Member, Sir, is ſuppoſed to ſpeak the Sentiments of his Conſtituents, and that Member who does not, is a Betrayer of his Country, and unworthy to repreſent the meaneſt of the Hottintots.

YET we are ſenſible, Sir, that upon two late intereſting Debates, Places, &c. not Perſons, voted to their Country's Deſtruction.

HENCE it evidently appears, that a corrupt Majority in Parliament, acts in manifeſt Oppoſition to the Sentiments of their Conſtituents, and the Conduct of ſuch, will ever be diſapproved of by Nine out of Ten in the Nation, which muſt be granted by all who have Virtue and Reſolution to declare their unbyaſſed Sentiments as you Sir, have moſt gloriouſly done this S—i—n.

TO have a Seat in the H—e of C—ns of I---d, is not to have more Wiſdom, Knowledge, or Learning than other Men, nor to know the natural or political Intereſt of the Nation better than other Men.

THERE are but two Privileges Senators have above others. viz. A Power of defending, or betraying the Liberties of their Country.

AND thoſe without Doors have a better Right to foreſee the Conſequences of any Invaſion upon their Liberties, than thoſe who are deluded, Hood-wink'd, and brib'd by the Spoil of their Country.

It will always be His ——y's Intereſt to have the Buſineſs of the Nation, carried on by the Patriots of the Kingdom, for while the Sentiments of the Patriots, and the People in general, are oppoſite to the Sentiments of corrupt R---rs and deprav'd Sen--rs, the promoting the latter, countenancing and ſupporting the former, againſt almoſt the univerſal Out-cries of a whole Kingdom, muſt conſequently weaken that Confidence, which the loyal Proteſtant Subjects of I---d repoſed in His ——y's gracious Diſpoſition to ſerve them.

There is one Thing, Sir, which is more alarming to the Free Electors of this County, than any thing elſe. They find Sir, that under the preſent Ad---n no Man who refuſed to vote againſt his Country and Conſcience, will be permitted to hold any Office or Employment at the Pleaſure of the C—n. By theſe Sacrifices to C—t Reſentment, Every one may perceive, that all Favours from the C—n, are to be enjoyed by the Enemies of their Country, and that thoſe Places, &c. are ſo many Inſtruments to enſlave the Land.

This Practice, Sir, is no more than the Conſequence of thoſe ſecret Menaces, which were uſed, in Order to compel the Patriots of this Kingdom, to vote againſt their Country, Honour, and Conſcience.

When the Patriots of a Country are diſgraced and diſlocated by the Enemies of their Country, it is the moſt irrefragable Proof a free People can have of the Corruption of a M—n—r, which perhaps never appeared ſo flagrant. * * * * * * The worthy Gentlemen, Sir, who had the Honour of being turned out of their Employments for their Loyalty to their —g, and Duty to their Country, have more Reaſon to rejoice, than thoſe ſervile Miſ--c--r---ants, who have been rew----d for their ready diſpoſition to betray that Truſt, which has been repoſed in them by their abuſed Conſtituents. Nothing has happened Sir, but what you expected, ſuch Treatment might ſhock little Hearts or Minds, but you rather pity, than dread thoſe inervate Attacks upon the Glory of Patriotiſm.

How

How poor the Reſentment, and how impolitick the Conduct of Rancour! If this be a Method to gain the Affections of a free, loyal, brave, generous Nation, we would be glad ſome C---r would inform us, which is the moſt effectual Method to diſoblige them, and ſhew that their Virtue is a Crime, and their Patriotiſm Diſgrace.

Does not the Nation ſee the Serpent licking the File? * * * * * * * *

The C----t, Sir, has had ſo many ſignal Inſtances, and ſuch recent Experience of Iriſh Loyalty and Bravery, that they naturally judge, no ill Treatment can alienate their Affection from their ---g, or compel them to deſert the Intereſt of their Country. A Virtue, few of his other S--b--j-ts can ſo eminently boaſt of.

We ſee plainly, Sir, that while the I--ſh remain thus incorrigible, they are to be goaded, diſlocated, and brow-beat, till they aſſent to the Consent of their Country's Ruin. Is this Uſage? Is this Impartiality? Is this Juſtice? Is this Honour? Is this Gratitude? Or is this the gracious Favour ſo openly, and ſpecioufly promiſed by the V----y? Bluſh ye Men in Power. Bluſh ye C----rs. Bluſh ye M----rs. Bluſh ye high Prieſts, and hide yourſelves ye Ganymedes. Take away the wicked from before the ----g, and his Th—e ſhall be eſtabliſhed in Righteouſneſs. His Power ſhall be impregnable, and the Love and Affection of his People unlimited. Prick not the Back of a generous Lyon, let his Chains be never ſo ſtrong; nor your Goad of never ſo great a Length. Let the Hiſtories of all Ages open your Eyes; and give ſound Council to the ----g.

O ye Men in Power, deceive not your ----g. You are bad Counſellors. What! do you fly into a Royal Boſom for Protection, and with Hand unſeen, ſtab that Heart, replete with generous and gracious Diſpoſitions to ſerve all his S—u—b—ts.

Is the Virtue of a Nation, Sir, to prove her Deſtruction? If we have not a Right to be free, we ſhould have no P—t. No State Bonfire for C—rs to warm themſelves by at the Expence of their Country. But while we are graciouſly permitted to aſſemble in P—t, may our Repreſentatives never give up one, the meaneſt Branch of their Liberties. Tho' you are turned out, Let Dagons, Prieſts and Ganymedes ride in Chariots, while Patriots on Foot invocate the Name of the Lord, who is a powerful King, and a King above all Kings.

It is his Divine Majeſty, that can diſſect a Co—r's Heart, and reward his Infidelity with many Stripes.

Is there any Man ſo nefarious as to aſſert, we are not and ought not to be a free People? Have not the Officers of the Crown given us Credit in the Parliamentary Accompts for any Money, borrowed from the Redundancy of the Tr——, and would thoſe Men in prticular give the Parliament Credit for ſuch Sums, if the Right of diſpoſing of that Money was not inveſted in the Commons of Ireland?

What is it this K—g—m has done to deſerve thoſe intended Strokes of Ruin, and thoſe Wounds to Patriot Worth? Have we not fought for his —y? protected his —y? ſupply'd his —y? been faithful, dutiful, and loyal to his —y?

Have we not ſent him rare Admirals, Generals, Commanders, and intrepid Soldiers?

When he was ſurrounded by public and private Enemies at home and abroad, did his Proteſtant Iriſh Subjects ſhew the leaſt Defection? Did not the Patriots of Ireland carry on his Buſineſs, in Parliament in the E—l of C—h—d's Time, with the utmoſt Duty, Loyalty, Affection and Unanimity? Were Supplies debated upon then? Were not our Grants equal to the Demands?

And

And was there any ſuch thing as Party or Faction heard of in the whole Nation? Did they take an Advantage of that Criſis to requeſt any Favours, or further Encouragement from the E——h P——t, which would readily be granted them at that Juncture? And did not the Peace and Tranquility of the Nation naturally depend upon their inherent Loyalty, and the Candour, Wiſdom, and Impartiality of their G—r?

If * * * * * * * preſided over us at that time, inflamed by the Jewiſh Choler of deſigning Youth, and ambitious P—r—t Craft, what might be the dire Conſequence? Who can ſay we are rewarded, when the Guardians of our Liberties and the ſincereſt Friends to his ——y, are ignominiouſly turned out of their Places, as if they had been Enemies to his Sacred P——r——n, F—m—y, and G—n—m—t?

What have the Patriots of this Kingdom to expect, but to ſee Slaves turn'd Taſk-maſters, ingulphing the Wealth of the Nation down their greedy and unſated Throats? O nefarious, ignominious Preferment!

Thoſe whoſe natural and acquir'd Abilities beſt qualify them for the Diſcharge of Offices and Places to the Honour of the Nation, are to be turned out whenever they oppoſe their Weight and Intereſt againſt the Enemies to National Liberty. Thoſe Practices, we no more expected to ſee, than our Loyalty deſerved them.

Some evil Precedents have good Beginnings, but the changing the Language of our Acts, in the very firſt Appearance of it, betray'd a Renunciation of our Liberties and human Reaſon.

O ye Free-holders of I—d, lay an indelible Brand on thoſe Re—pr—ves, who betray'd your Intereſt in P——t this S—ſ—n. Sooner permit yourſelves to be driven to Beggary by venal Landlords, than be compel'd to vote for an Enemy to your Country.

ARE you not Men? Are you not Chriſtians? Are you not Free-holders, and are you not Proteſtants? Have you not purchaſed your Liberties by much Blood and Toil? and ſhall you not tranſmit them to Poſterity inviolable? What are you but Guardians to Liberty, and ſhall you ſell the Privileges of Infants yet unborn, or build your preſent Happineſs, on the future Ruin of your Country?

HE who conſents to the Deſtruction of a Nation, is equally criminal with him who has an immediate Hand in it; and if you give your Suffrages to the Enemies of your Country, you are unworthy the Name of Freemen, or Proteſtants.

HAVE you not glorious Examples before you in thoſe illuſtrious Patriots, who renounced all worthy Intereſt, ſooner than betray their Country? Have not the Enemies of your Country ſpeeched Hours in P——t to undo * you, and do they not hug themſelves now upon the Fate of your noble diſlocated Patriots?

HAVE you any thing to boaſt of in this unhappy Country but the Glory of your preſent Patriots, your Duty to his Majeſty, and the Remains of your Liberty which you never can loſe, while you ſupport your Freedom at Elections?

IF you have Honour, if you have Religion, if you have Virtue, if you have Loyalty, if you have Humanity or Patriotiſm, you muſt love your Country, honour her Patriots, deſpiſe her Enemies, and be unſhaken in your Loyalty and Attachment to his Majeſty?

* C-- P——y. The R——r, and Mumpmſius, Sir C—— B——, Oh——

How

How then can you love your Country, if you vote her Enemies into P—t? If you were to chuſe an Agent, to preſerve or recover your Properties, you'd, no doubt, fix upon a Man of the moſt popular Integrity. And when the Properties of the whole Kingdom are at ſtake, will you be leſs vigilant and circumſpect?

You ſee, Gentlemen, the Corruption of Sh—ffs at Elections, caſt your Eyes upon the W—x—d Election. See Loyalty and Patriotiſm ſold and betrayed. See the Enemies to our Conſtitution ruſhing tumultuouſly on the Sons of Liberty, and tearing open Houſes to deſtroy and murder them! Shall you not abhor the Ring-leaders of ſuch impious Conſpirators againſt the unſhaken Friends of Liberty? Shall you not ſincerely pray that a Patriot RAM may be able to batter down all the Dregs and Lees of C—t Sediments and Corruption.

THE Struggle is not over, the M--ey B--lls like the Bridge, are to come over again, that darling Codicil CONSENT is to make a ſecond Appearance, there is formidable Intereſt making. Your Enemies are going up Stairs, and your Friends honoured with C----t Diſgrace. Diſtinguiſh your ſelves then by a virtuous Choice of Repreſentatives, and if your Country is to be ſold, be unconſcious of the Guilt. Let no Field of Blood be purchaſed by the Price of your Venality and let not ſuch an indelible Crime diſhonour your Children when you are in your Graves. Acquit your ſelves like Free-men, put no Weapons into Madmen's Hands, nor truſt thoſe with your Liberties, who are ready to ſell their own. All Cowards are treacherous, and he that betrays his Country, cannot be brave.

YOUR Country has been renowned Time immemorial for the Preſervation of Liberty, diveſt not your ſelves of it when you ſtand in need of it moſt. You have Men among you who are willing to aſſert your Liberties in Spight of all the Corruption upon Earth. Elect thoſe Men, Men, they are cloathed in Innocence; you may know them by their Escutcheons.

ALL Candidates are not inrob'd in white, some of them are as black as Hell, and their Hearts as bitter as what this Ink is made of. Mark those false Candidates, those State Fishermen, those stalking Horses and Pandours to licentious Power; those Murderers, Robbers, and Betrayers of their Country, look at them, and you'll see the Jew lurking behind their beclouded Features, they can't look a Patriot straight in the Face, a conscious guilt begrims their Visage, nor does Serenity shew her lovely Appearance in their brazen Front.

THESE are the Criteria whereby you may know them, mark from what Side their Interest comes, whether from Roger or Dagon, despise the Worshippers of Dagon, they are Idolaters, who would worship even a STONE to get Preferment.

TAKE a retrospective View of your Sister S—t—l—d, what would she give to be even in your Condition! Bridle then the Ambition of your Enemies, despise that dangerous LEVIATHAN that would ingulph your Liberties, and cross the Waves in Triumph.

EITHER elect your Patriot Friends, or to save Trouble, tamely resign your Liberties, and seek some happier Climate.

YOU'LL pardon this Digression, Sir, which proceeds from my Love to my Country, and Approbation of your Conduct this S—s—n of P—t.

WE take Leave to assure you, Sir, that at the same time we owe you the highest Obligations, we are not wanting in our Love and Gratitude to the Right Honourable the Earl of KILDARE, the Right Honourable the SPEAKER, Sir RICHARD COX, and all the rest of the worthy Patriots who distinguished themselves on two late memorable Tryals of Patriotism.

YOUR

YOUR Endeavours to ſerve us, Sir, were no leſs grateful to us on account of your unbiaſs'd Principles, than their invaluable Succeſs, and while the Conſtituents of this COUNTY, have a MALONE to repreſent them, they will have the firmeſt Dependence of being ſecur'd of their Liberties, as far as Virtue and Integrity can extend. And to ſhew our Gratitude to the One hundred and twenty two Patriots, we have added to this Addreſs, Promotions ſuitable to their Merit, the meaneſt of which, no Power but Virtue can beſtow, nor no Man enjoy but a Patriot. We therefore take Leave to conclude,

Great SIR,

Your moſt humble, grateful, dutiful,

and devoted Servants,

The FREE ELECTORS of the C—y of W-ſt-m-th.
